From the Pastor

Ever since I was a little kid, I have loved what is known as Resurrection, First Fruits, or Easter Sunday. I love doing everything I can to slow down this coming Passion Week, and try to walk along with Jesus during His last week on earth before going to the Cross. Where was He on Monday after Sunday's Triumphal Entry (see Matthew 21:17)? What was He thinking as He used those few days to teach in the Jerusalem Temple? How difficult was it for Him to face the opposition of the Chief Priests and the Sanhedrin? How encouraging was it when the precious lady gave her last penny in the offering—did He see that and think, "Finally, someone who will understand what I'm about to do this week when I give My all!" When Mary came and anointed Him for burial, how sobering was that?

Read Psalm 118 as if that were the hymn they sang after The Last Supper, because my sources say this is true. No wonder He told the authorities the Parable of the Tenants, prophesying to them that "the Stone (Him) the builders (them) rejected has become the Capstone. The Lord has done this, and it is marvelous in our eyes." (Psalm 118:22-23).

Good Friday we will have a Noon Service I like to call "Sunday's coming, but it's Friday!" Let's slow it down, take our time, and identify with our Lord in His anguished moments of Gethsemane and Calvary. What would that have been like to witness these incredible yet excruciating moments?

Pondering His Pain,

Randy & Pam
