

From the Pastor

When our daughter Ashley was 9 years old, she was instructed to meet me in my office precisely at 12 Noon so I could take her to lunch. Our Christian school was on the campus, so as I anticipated her prompt arrival, I asked my Assistant if she had seen Ashley, and Norma Jeanne told me that Ashley was out on the landing witnessing to someone.

When we finally did leave for lunch, I asked her what she said to the adult she had struck up a conversation with, and she told me that basically she had shared with them the Good News about Jesus, and finally just simply asked, "So do you want to go up or down?"

Throughout the years I have marveled at her boldness, as she has now taken teams of people around the world to share God's Good News, but I often stop and smile just thinking about the sheer simplicity of this important question.

Today, on our first Family Day where everyone stays together in the Sanctuary for the service, and including Dinner on the Grounds, I want to make sure that our children and our students and our Young Adults and everyone knows just exactly what it takes to make sure you are going up.

One of my favorite country songs says that people in the South who love cornbread and chicken are "working hard to get to heaven." Let's nail it down today just how hard we have to work to make sure we are going up!

Blessings,

Randy & Pam

P.S. (Spoiler Alert, He did it all!)
