

From the Pastor

I once heard that true humility was being exactly who you are, no more and no less. I think we all have experienced our own portrayal of being less than we really are, which could actually border on false humility, and expressing ourselves as more than we really are probably doesn't fit in the 'humility' category.

But what if there is something that you really excel in, I mean, what if every time Larry Wayne sang and we compliment him he said something like, "No, please, I barely even know what I'm doing." The most humble thing he could ever say, after studying diligently and having a Master's degree in this area, after 17 years singing on Broadway, would be something like, "Thank you, I'm so grateful God gave me this gift so that I could bring Him glory."

Mary told Luke about the birth of Jesus. When Gabriel appeared to her, there was no fanfare. It was just humble--simple--perfect. But the entire Army of Heaven showed up to sing and herald His coming out in those Bethlehem pastures!

So for Christmas this year, all I want is to keep trying to grasp what TRUE Humility really is. Thank you, Mary, for sharing with Luke the full spectrum of what humility looks like!

Blessings,

Randy & Pam
