

From the Pastor

Fight the good fight of faith. Agonize the good agony. Struggle the good struggle. No matter how you say it, the truth of the matter is that the Christian life will embroil you in a constant battle for the rest of your life. The sooner we embrace this truth, the better off all of us will be. Church life is designed to be filled with conflict or better said, the resolution of those conflicts.

I never really knew this until I came to Las Vegas to work with my old college buddy, Rich Guerra. One day, standing in his office, he told me, "Randy, I expect conflict in church and you are surprised by it." Boy, was he ever spot on. I was under the impression that we should all just avoid conflict all together and blindly just get along.

Once I began to realize that life is tough and filled with pain, that pain was inevitable but misery was optional, my whole outlook began to improve. Taking off the rose-colored glasses was difficult, but it wouldn't have been if I would have had a greater understanding of today's principal text: 1 Timothy 6:12, "Fight (agonize, struggle) the good fight of faith." Agonize, stretch yourself to the limits, and grow strong, with a 'violent taking it by force' type of attitude about living for Jesus.

Let's look into this a little more,

Randy & Pam
