

From the Pastor

Revelation 22:18 warns anyone who would add to God's Word. Today I am well aware of that awful warning as I ask you to consider Luke 15:33. Actually there is no such verse. Or is there? The greatest short story ever written, according to Charles Dickens and Ralph Waldo Emerson, has no ending!

The Parable of the Prodigal Son ends with the father pleading with the oldest son to come inside and celebrate because his younger brother was essentially dead but now he has come back to life. He was perishing but now he has been found.

Well, did the older brother come to his senses? Did he humble himself, honor his dad and join the family by embracing and reconciling with his little brother? Luke 15:33, according to Pastor Randy (with a lot of help from several Bible teachers and Greek scholars): "And after the older son heard this, he, being outraged at his father, picked up a piece of wood and beat his father to death."

Am I right? Is this what history records or am I just making up stuff that would place me in jeopardy of having to experience all the plagues and terrible things recorded in God's Word?

This 1st Century society was so driven by the honor/shame code. The younger brother had brought so much shame on the family, and the father fed the shame by granting his younger son's request. Now this boy comes home and in the eyes of his older brother just heaps more shame on the family to where he can't stand it anymore. So he takes it upon himself to restore honor to his family.

Let's look into this,

Randy & Pam
