

FROM THE PASTOR

During my great time at Vanguard University (way back in the 20th Century!), Rich Guerra was asked to speak in Chapel while we were still students. As you know, Rich is the Superintendent of the SoCal Network, overseeing some 500 churches, and we are still close friends after all this time.

The title of his message that day was one I will never forget: "Are you a virgin by chance or by choice?" Rich has a brilliant mind that never stops. He innovates in his dreams. All these years later, I'm certain that I haven't grasped all that he meant, because his teaching and preaching has multiple layers to it.

But one thing I have become aware of through the years is that you and I are going to enroll in the school of suffering one day, either by chance or by choice. Time and chance happens to us all. Choosing the school of suffering happened the day you accepted Jesus as your Savior.

Serving Jesus is awesome, the very best decision of my entire life, but if one wants to grow as His disciple, one will need to suffer, and as I said last week, one needs to learn how to rejoice in suffering. After 68 years, this is something I am just beginning to learn.

I have always moaned and groaned my way through suffering—ALWAYS. But now that our family has been immersed into suffering as we walk with our youngest daughter through tongue cancer, I've made a decision to 'glory in tribulation,' mainly because I need to grow my endurance and build character, which will lead to unashamed hope as the Holy Spirit enlarges my heart through His great love for me. I don't know how God is going to resolve this, but I choose to rejoice!

Won't you join me? Praying that we suffer well,

Pastor Randy
