

FROM THE PASTOR

OK, somebody please remind me to never preach about suffering ever again! It would seem that the Lord has brought me and Pam into such a season of suffering with our daughter Lindsey, that just maybe I could actually have some depth about me when I preach on suffering. Why can't we just stay superficial, and talk about the good things of God and a faith that removes mountains?

I am convinced that the Scriptures are commanding us to come to the understanding that we must learn how to rejoice in our suffering. It's the only way to join into the "Fellowship of His suffering" and therefore make it redemptive. If Jesus offered up prayers and pleadings with loud cries and tears (Hebrews 5:7), then shouldn't we? Shouldn't we come underneath and help bear the burden others are carrying?

Look, no one likes to have fun in church more than I do. But how would we ever become more than conquerors if we don't endure hardship and distress and persecution with the correct attitude? You think the team that wins the Super Bowl today didn't experience all of this? They have to play with pain and perform under pressure, all the while enjoying themselves and having fun in the process. "No Cross, No Crown."

Here's the wonder: our suffering is not for nothing. God takes it and uses it for something beautiful, something far beyond what we could ever imagine. What's that going to look like concerning our Lindsey, who is scheduled to have her entire tongue removed on March 12th? I don't know, but Pam and I are beyond grateful that you, our church family, have come along beside us, and are helping us to bear this burden.

Let's do it...with tears, and sorrow and pain...and Laughter! "Our present suffering cannot be compared with the glory about to be revealed to us." (Romans 8:18)

Rejoicing in suffering,

Randy & Pam
